BROWNLOW POINTS PERIL TO CAPITAL

Says "Beautiful Streets" Boast May Prove Vain if Improvements Are Discouraged.

Commissioner Louis Brownlow told the Georgetown Citizens' Association last night that although he is decidedly opposed to the Borland amendment, which provides that the property owner shall pay one-fourth of the cost of street improvements, the city of Washington will lose its boasted title—"the city of beautiful streets"—if the citizens' associations and individuals continue to protest against the improvement of streets because of this amendment.

"I believe street improvements should be made out of the general taxation fund," said the Commissioner, "because they are a benefit to the entire city as well as to the abutting property owners on the street. One thing I have noticed is that the city of Washington has been unevenly developed. Some sections have had improvements that have not been given to other and older sections. I have even noticed some well paved streets on which property has not been erected, while the thickly inhabited sections—as your own section—remain poorly paved.

"For this reason the Borland amendment will be particularly unjust in Washington, for now the people of the undeveloped sections, who have waited so long for their improvements, must be burdened with one-fourth the cost while the newer sections have already been developed free of that cost.

"But this proposition of making the abutting property owner share the expense of street improvements is not confined to Washington; it is coming throughout the country. And, although it appears to be relieving the taxpayer of the burden of paying for general street repairs, it is in reality a scheme of the richer residents to get their sections improved in preference to the poorer sections.

"I trust, however, that the citizens of the District will not change their policy of telling the Commissioners what they desire improved, because of the Borland amendment. Recently, instead of such requests, the Commissioners have received protests from individuals against the improvement of their streets. If this change of policy continues Washington will lose its boasted honor, the city of beautiful streets.

"I will not advocate the single tax for Washington during my term of office," said the Commissioner. He assured the association that the members do not annoy the Commissioners by asking for what they consider necessary to their neighborhood.

A resolution was adopted instructing the secretary to write to the Washington Railway and Electric Company, asking that a waiting station be placed at the transfer corner of Wisconsin avenue and P street.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

For the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia—Partly cloudy and cool Tuesday, Wednesday fair; moderate westerly winds. The storm that was over Lake Superior Sunday night has passed on Hudson Bay, while a little of low pressure that extends it covers the Atlantic States. This pressure distribution has resulted in general rains throughout the Atlantic and East Gulf States, rains and snows in the region of the Great Lakes, and local snows in the extreme Upper Mississippi Valley. In all other parts of the country the weather remained fair. The temperature has fallen considerably in the region of the Great Lakes, and the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, and it is rising again over the Northwest and the Rocky Mountain region. Temperatures remain above the seasonal average in practically all parts of the country. Fair weather will prevail during Tuesday and Wednesday in all other parts of the country, except on the Pacific Coast, where there will be rain.

The temperature will fall somewhat over the Atlantic seaboard, and it will rise over the Plains States and the Northwest Tuesday; and in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the Upper Lake region Wednesday. Temperature changes elsewhere will be unimportant. The winds along the North Atlantic coast will be fresh south, shifting to west; on the Middle Atlantic coast moderate westerly; on the South Atlantic coast moderate variable; on the Gulf coast moderate north and northeast; on the Great Lakes moderate to fresh westerly.

A Legitimate Sale

A LEGITIMATE REDUCTION OF FROM $10 TO $20
ON A SUIT OR OVERCOAT

W. M. Freeny, formerly general manager and founder of Fineman & Goldsmith, Tailors and Importers, at 611 14th St. N.W., has organized The W. M. Freeny Co., Inc., which has purchased the entire business of Fineman & Goldsmith, in Washington, D. C., at a price which permits the W. M. Freeny Co. to enter upon their new tailoring career by giving the men of Washington an opportunity to secure the finest tailor-made clothes at $10 to $20 less than Fineman & Goldsmith's regular prices.

This sale comprises an enormous purchase of new 1915 spring and summer suitings, bought from the most noted mills at home and abroad, as well as heavy weights in suitings and overcoatings.

Mr. Freeny has secured two cutters from New York, who are recognized by the high-class Fifth Avenue trade as being men of unusual ability.

All work will be made exclusively in Washington by high-class men tailors, most of whom were secured by our designers from their Fifth Avenue shops.

As a last word, it is Mr. Freeny's intention to make this new establishment THE TAILORING STORE OF WASHINGTON, at moderate prices.
